The Juvenile Court, unlike other state courts of record, oversees a probation department. A clerical division prepares the legal documents and maintains the official record

Probation officers have a variety of duties

- They prepare court reports
- Supervise youth who have been placed on probation by the court.
- Conduct assessments and evaluations
- Submit progress reports to the court
- Coordinate and facilitate interventions
- Coordinate with allied agencies such as Juvenile Justice Services and Division of Child and Family Services
- Apply current Evidence Based Practices in juvenile reform.
